Dear Fellow SSOMS Members:

On behalf of the membership of the Southeastern Society of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeons, I invite you to attend our 71st annual meeting which will be held August 19-23, 2020 at Casa Marina, Key West, FL.

The Conch Republic, as locals refer to Key West, offers an eccentric and laid-back departure from reality. World-class restaurants combined with local Cuban coffee shops, legendary bars and an energetic nightlife await. From the colorful, salty locals to the Key West chickens running around everywhere, this quirky island is the perfect destination for a laid-back SSOMS experience. Key West is just as much a state of mind as a destination.

Immerse yourself in a fantastic getaway on the only private beach in Key West, FL. Established in the 1920s and a hotel icon ever since, Casa Marina, a Waldorf Astoria Resort combines modern luxury and historic beauty. Enjoy a boutique resort feel with spectacular amenities, including oceanfront accommodations, two tropical pools, and thrilling water sports. Here, you'll find memorable days and mesmerizing sunsets.

We're welcoming our distinguished scientific panel: Drs. Eric Carlson from the University of Tennessee Medical Center and David Powers from Duke University School of Medicine and their sessions on progressive bone destruction and reconstructive surgery.

We'll enjoy all the tours and offerings of Key West including sunset cruises and beach parties. Leave your tuxedos at home this year, bring your flip-flops and sunscreen and join us!

Sincerely yours,

Bob Pfeffle, DMD

President
Southeastern Society of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeons

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

Medication Related Osteonecrosis of the Jaws: Update 2020 Odontogenic Cysts and Tumors - Contemporary Surgical Management

Eric Carlson, DMD, MD, FACS

Professor and Chair
Residency Program Chair
Department of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery
University of Tennessee Graduate School of Medicine
Knoxville, TN

Dr. Carlson's clinical focus is benign and malignant tumors of the oral cavity, head, and neck, salivary gland surgery, and reconstructive Surgery. His research focus includes translational research initiatives focus on the identification of human papillomavirus (HPV) in oral and oropharyngeal cancer and the preoperative staging of head and neck cancer with positron emission tomography/computed tomography (PET/CT) and a variety of tracers. The ability to detect a specific carcinogen and proper staging of these cancers is of important prognostic value.

Additionally, Dr. Carlson has been engaged in elucidating the relationship between adult learning theory and professional development of faculty, a relatively new concept in academic medical centers. To this end, his work centers on technical and adaptive challenges in the development of faculty. At the core of adaptive challenges is the recognition that mindsets form the basis for faculty development and higher orders of consciousness are realized when growth mindsets are assumed by faculty members. Retention of productive faculty and effective teaching of residents are the end results.

Dr. Carlson obtained his DMD from University of Pennsylvania, 1985; attended medical school at the University of Miami, 2000; and concluded his residency in Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery at Allegheny General Hospital, Pittsburgh, PA, 1989 and general surgery at the University of Tennessee Graduate School of Medicine, 2003. His fellowship included tumor and reconstructive surgery, Jackson Memorial Hospital/University of Miami School of Medicine, Miami, FL, 1990.

Patient Specific Implants in Reconstructive Surgery; Ballistic Injury & Penetrating Neck Trauma

David Powers, DMD, MD

Director, Craniomaxillofacial Trauma and Reconstructive Surgery Fellowship
Associate Professor of Surgery
Duke University School of Medicine
Durham, NC

Dr. Powers currently serves as an Associate Professor of Surgery, and Director of the Craniomaxillofacial Trauma Program, at Duke University Medical Center. Additionally, he is the Fellowship Director for the Craniomaxillofacial Trauma and Reconstructive Surgery fellowship within the Department of Surgery. His surgical experience in facial trauma was attained during a military career highlighted by the acute management of ballistic and other injuries of warfare, as well as performing secondary and tertiary facial reconstructive surgery during various staff assignments at Wilford Hall USAF Medical Center, the Walter Reed National Military Medical Center - Bethesda and the R Adams Cowley Shock Trauma Center in Baltimore, Maryland. He lectures and has published extensively on the management of ballistic and high-energy transfer injuries to the craniomaxillofacial skeleton, comprehensive reconstruction techniques for facial trauma, and the use of computer-aided surgical planning and patient-specific implants for anatomic rehabilitation after catastrophic craniomaxillofacial injuries.

The scientific sessions have been approved for 7.5 CE credit hours.

LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Warren Arrasmith, DMD

Associate Professor
Clinic Director, Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery
University of Alabama at Birmingham School of Dentistry
Birmingham, AL

Dr. Warren Arrasmith, a native of Birmingham, Alabama, completed his undergraduate and dental education at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, AL. He received his DMD with honors and was elected to Omicron Kappa Upsilon (OKU) National Dental Honor Society. Following graduation, he served in the United States Air Force as a General Dental Officer at Clark Air Base during the Vietnam War. Upon completing his tour of duty, he attended the University of Alabama at Birmingham (UAB), Birmingham, AL where he completed his residency in Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery. He was fortunate to have been mentored by some of the best professors in the specialty including Dr. Charles “Scotty” McCallum, Dr. Charles Alling, and Dr. Victor Matukas.

Dr. Arrasmith spent 38 years in private practice in Birmingham, AL. During that time, he served as the Chief of the Oral and Maxillofacial section at Baptist Medical Center Princeton and University of Alabama at Birmingham Medical West Hospitals. He also served on numerous hospital and operating room committees and participated in establishing hospital guidelines for Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery privileges. In the late 1990’s, he joined the Department of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery at the University Of Alabama School Of Dentistry as a part-time Adjunct Professor and in 2011 transitioned to a full-time Associate Professor position.

Dr. Arrasmith currently holds the Thomas W. Jones Endowed Professorship and recently received the UAB President’s Award for Excellence in Teaching. He serves as the Clinical Director of the Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Clinic and he is actively involved in the undergraduate dental education where he is the course master for several courses and co-course master for the Dental Hygienist Local Anesthesia Course. He serves on various School of Dentistry committees and is currently serving as Chair of the Faculty and Faculty Council and Chair of several Faculty Search Committees. He was previously the Chair of the Dean’s Leadership Council and is past President of the OKU National Dental Honor Society.

Dr. Arrasmith is also active in local, state, and national professional organizations. He is a past president of the Alabama Society of OMS, the Southeastern Society of OMS, and a delegate to the Alabama Dental Association and American Association of OMS. He currently serves as Recorder for the House of Delegates. He is also past president of the McCallum Alumni Association and he currently serves on the Executive Committee. He has served as an examiner for the State Board of Dentistry for office anesthesia evaluations. He is also active in local politics and attends AAOMS Day on the Hill annually.

Dr. Arrasmith was married for 52 years to Anne Arrasmith, who passed away 2 years ago. They have one daughter, Tyndall (Zachery), and two grandchildren, Ella and Waylon. He enjoys traveling, visiting family, reading, and spending time at his lake house in his spare time.

ACTIVITIES

The activities listed below are individually booked and are not SSOMS group functions. Book these activities through the Casa Marina concierge or directly with the facility.

DEEP SEA FISHING

The Florida Keys is one of the world's top destinations for salt water fishing. Key West offers numerous fishing options and numerous fishing charter services. Flats fishing, back country, nearshore reef fishing, and deep sea fishing are available for full day, ¾ day and ½ day charters.

Murray Marine is located about 5 miles from the Casa Marina Resort on Stock Island. The following captains fish out of Murray Marine and are highly recommended. They fish twin engine, center console boats that are about 30ft and perfect for nearshore and/or offshore fishing with 3-4 people. Some also have flats boats.

Rates for a ½ day trip will be about $1,000 (not including tip.)

Tony Murphy 305-293-1814; www.keylimey.com
Mark Schmidt 305-797-4032; www.captainmarkschmidt.com
Steve Impallomeni 305-292-9837

If you are interested in chartering a bigger boat with an enclosed cabin, Captain Jay Miller fishes a 42 ft sports fishing boat named Outer Limits that can fish 4-6 people. This boat is docked at Key West Bight Marina near Mallory Square. Captain Jay can be reached at 305-923-1043.

Captain John Jackson (305-923-3721) operates Reel Easy Charters out of Hurricane Hole Marina on Stock Island. He has a fleet of bay boats and flats boats that are perfect for nearshore fishing with 2-3 people. They also offer sunset Tarpon trips. Hurricane Hole Marina has an outdoor restaurant where you can have your catch cooked immediately after your trip.

We recommend that anyone interested in booking a fishing charter make reservations as soon as possible. This will be a busy time of the year and availability will be limited. If you have any questions regarding these captains or key West fishing, please call Dr. Jeff Wallen at 843-602-2216.

ACTIVITIES

ERNEST HEMINGWAY HOME AND MUSEUM

The Hemingway home was built in 1851 in the Spanish Colonial style, and was constructed of native rock hewn from the grounds. The home was in great disrepair when it the Hemingways took ownership, but both Ernest and Pauline could see beyond the rubble and ruin, and appreciated the grand architecture and stateliness of the home. The massive restoration and remodeling they undertook in the early 1930's turned the home into the National Historical Landmark that thousands of tourists visit and enjoy today. Take a leisurely stroll through the tranquil studio, home, and gardens where the late Nobel Prize winner was motivated to write novels. You'll also see living descendants of the legendary original six-toed cats! Guided tours are ongoing daily and you can browse through the museum as long as you like.

30-minute guided tours are $15 for adults, $6 for children 6-12, free for children 5 and under. Persons under 16 MUST be accompanied by an adult 18 years or older. No reservations needed. Cash only.

MEL FISHER MARITIME MUSEUM

Mel Fisher was a dreamer, a visionary, a legend and most importantly, the World's Greatest Treasure Hunter! The Mel Fisher Maritime Museum contains an extensive collection of artifacts from 17th century shipwrecks, such as the Henrietta Marie, Nuestra Señora de Atocha and Santa Margarita. The $450 million dollar treasure cache was found on July 20, 1985. Over 40 tons of silver and gold were located including over 100,000 Spanish silver coins known as "Pieces of Eight", gold coins, Columbian emeralds, silver and gold artifacts and over 1000 silver bars. Admission is $16 for adults and $7 for children.

TRUMAN LITTLE WHITE HOUSE

A place where an array of leaders, legendary inventors, dignitaries, visionaries and many prestigious visitors were drawn to throughout its history, Key West's Harry S. Truman Little White House holds a special place in the history of America. Constructed in 1890 to serve as the naval station's command headquarters during the Spanish-American War, World War I and World War II, this historic site later became the second White House. A visit to the Truman Little White House treats you to a journey back to the era of Harry Truman and a view of many of his personal belongings. You'll see where he and Bess lived and dined, original furnishings, personal effects and more. You'll also see the rooms where Truman met with the Joint Chiefs of Staff, worked on the Marshall Plan and wrote the Truman Doctrine. Admission is $22.52 for adults and $10.75 for children 5-12.

SOUTHERNMOST POINT

Key West is famous for being the southernmost city in the continental United States. When you visit, it's essential that you make it to the southernmost point on the island, found at the intersection of Whitehead Street and South Street. Here, you'll see the landmark Southernmost Buoy (a required photo opp) and a whole host of other "southernmost" attractions that make for a fun Key West afternoon.

MALLORY SQUARE

Mallory Square is the center of Key West's social and commercial life with restaurants, shops, theater, museums, live entertainment and the most spectacular sunsets to be found anywhere. It is located on the waterfront in Key West's historic Old Town, adjacent to the cruise ship port and facing the Gulf of Mexico.

DUVAL STREET

Perhaps one of the most popular destinations on the island of Key West, Duval Street is the main drag of downtown, running north and south from the Gulf of Mexico to the Atlantic Ocean. Although it is not much more than a mile in length - this is where the heartbeat of the city comes to life with a diverse array of restaurants, shops, world famous pubs and attractions.
